

ALLEGED ROBBERS INDICTED BY JURY FOR HOME THEFTS

With wholesale indictments being returned in a series of thefts in this and Fairfield, Franklin, Madison and Fayette counties, the October term of the Hickaway-co grand jury was adjourned shortly before noon Wednesday by Judge Joseph W. Adkins subject to the call of the court for special duty if needed.

Thirteen true bills were returned by the jurors, only four of which did not deal with a ring charged with committing thefts in many summer cottages through central Ohio. The alleged ring is believed broken after a thorough investigation by Sheriff Frank Davis and his deputies.

Five persons, held by county officials, were indicted and a sixth who is believed to be one of the ring-leaders of the thefts, James O. Stewart, Deer Creek-twp., who fled from his home just before officers reached there, was also indicted. He faces indictment on six counts. Mrs. Stewart is indicted on five counts; Otis Speakman, Deer Creek-twp., on one; Andrew Estep, Deer Creek-twp. on one; Edward Fritch, Columbus, two; C. C. Bright, Columbus, two, and Mrs. Leoatus Bright, his wife, two.

NAME CHARGES

The Brights and Fritches are indicted for burglary and larceny of the cottage of Mal and Harry Daugherty; Speakman is charged with concealing stolen property from the home of Mrs. Jennie Groce and burglary and larceny; Estep is charged with the same thing; the Stewarts are charged with burglary and larceny and receiving and concealing stolen property of the Groce home; of burglary and larceny and concealing property from the Sam and Laura Lutz home; for receiving and concealing stolen property from the home of Ben Finkle, Fairfield-co; for burglary and larceny and receiving stolen property from the home of Judge and Mrs. Peter Blosser, and for burglary and larceny and concealing stolen property from the cottage of Harry Daugherty. Stewart with Andrew Estep is also charged with burglary and larceny of the Groce home.

Besides the indictments in the thefts, Frank Smith, colored, caught carrying concealed weapons in the south-end of the city by Officer William McCrady was indicted; Cecil Frazier is held under indictment for the theft of the Packard car of A. C. Moore, W. Franklin-st.; Thomas Williams, colored, is indicted for breaking and entering the offices of the Norfolk & Western railroad. He was caught by city police. Frank "Fanny" Moore was indicted for shooting with intent to kill.

Three cases were ignored; those against A. W. Burns, Columbus contractor, for working his men on the S. Court-st paving job beyond the limit of hours allowed by the state; Jess Dawson for non-support and Ben Haddock for cutting Pearl Valentine with intent to wound. Witnesses showed beyond a doubt that Haddock used his knife in self-defense when Valentine attacked him.

APPROVE CO. JAIL

During their term the grand jurors under the direction of Prosecutor E. L. Crist visited the county jail and conditions there are in excellent condition. They recommended that seven double-deck beds with mattresses for the cells on the lower floor be purchased by the county commissioners.

Thomas O. Gilliland, Pinckney-st., this city, was foreman of the jury composed of Frank Valentine, Pickaway-twp.; Thomas Wardell, Wayne-twp.; Charles Carmean, Deer Creek-twp.; Ira May, Second ward; M. E. J. Helmick, Scioto-twp.; Mrs. Frank Kibby, Deer Creek-twp.; C. E. Meyers, Ira Fisher, Walnut-twp.; George Bentley, William Hoffman, Wayne-twp.; John Spencer, Salt Creek-twp.; Lena Woods, Scioto-twp.; Florence Roberts, Pickaway-twp.; and Mrs. Sam Tootle, Monroe-twp.

Mrs. Elsea had gone onto the porch to place a door-key on a window for her husband to enter the house. Mr. Elsea was away for the evening. Just as she opened the door and walked onto the porch a man snatched her by the throat. Mrs. Elsea tussled with him and screamed for a small son who was upstairs. When the child started down the stairs the assailant thought it was a man approaching and fled.

The intruder was described by Mrs. Elsea as being of short stature and wearing a cap. She said in her excitement she could not tell whether the assailant was a white man or a negro.

CITY SIDE WALKS
An Editorial.

Circleville, as a municipality, has kept pace with progress in most instances. We have all conveniences found in any well-organized American city. But there has been a laxity of sidewalk improvement, particularly in certain parts of the business district.

Years ago people were satisfied to have the old-time board walk, for they were an improvement over the dust and mud. This type was followed with brick and then concrete. Each step was an improvement but we still have the old-time brick walks that are not only an eye-sore but a danger to the safety of pedestrians.

Brick sidewalks are all right when in proper condition, but when the bricks protrude unevenly caused by roots of trees, with holes that may cause accidents and collect the water from rains, the property owners should be made to repair or replace them.

An ordinance passed by the City Council years ago gives the Service Director power to have these sidewalks repaired or replaced. Those brick walks in bad condition should be replaced with cement.

Let's get rid of these dangerous brick sidewalks before winter.

A's WIN WORLD TITLE BY DRUBBING CARDS

Earnshaw Virtually Wins 3 Games In Great World Series.

CONNIE ELATED

Cardinal Team Goes Down Fighting.

BULLETIN

The strong right arm of George Earnshaw and the inability of Wild Bill Hallahan, Sylvester Johnson and Herman Bell to stop the tide of Athletic base hits gave Connie Mack's Athletics the 1930 world series from the St. Louis Cardinals four games against two.

The score of the deciding contest was 7-1 with St. Louis failing to score until the ninth inning.

Simmons and Dykes hit home runs for the winners.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Desperately anxious to win today, Manager Gabby Street of the St. Louis Cardinals, is seriously considering shaking up his batting order for the sixth game of the 1930 world series with the Philadelphia Athletics this afternoon.

If he does, he will drop "Sunny Jim" Bottomley from the "cleanup" position of fourth to sixth on the list because the popular Cardinals first baseman hasn't been hitting the size of his hat. Bottomley has made only one hit, a two bagger, in 20 times at bat in the five contests already played for a batting average of .050.

Manager Street has definitely decided to pitch "Bill" Hallahan against the A's in this vital game, for the Red Birds must win or lose the series. If he switches the lineup, as International News Service learned he intended to do, either Blades or Watkins will bat fourth in Bottomley's place. Blades would be in the game if "Lefty" Grove or any other southpaw pitched whereas Watkins would play in the event Manager Connie Mack selects a right hander to do the hurling.

HAFEE FIFTH

Hafey would remain fifth on the batting order and Bottomley would move down to sixth. The reason Bottomley has been hitting so poorly is that he has been facing only left handed pitching and he is at his best against right handers. He is in a terrible slump but his fielding has been of the highest order. There is no danger that Orsatti will be used at first base in Bottomley's place, as has been suggested.

"Yes, I think I can beat the A's again. We all feel that this series is going into the seventh game. I know that Simmons, Fox and Cochrane are great hitters," continued on Page six.

MRS. RITZ HEADS
BENEVOLENT GROUP

Mrs. Carl Ritz E. High-st, was elected president of the Circleville Benevolent Association at a well-attended meeting held Tuesday afternoon.

The members of the Benevolent association invites all citizens interested in this work to attend the next meeting to be held Nov. 5 in the city cottage.

"Wild Bill" Hallahan, crack left-hander who stood the Philadelphia Athletics on their heads in the only game he pitched against them, was the choice of Gabby Street, St. Louis Cardinal manager today as his last hope against the A's. ## BRAZIL TROOPS DRIVE REBELS IN OHIO MINE

Insurrectionists are Completely Subdued by Government; Machine Guns Used.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 8.—Important federal victories over the Brazilian revolutionists in states of Rio De Janeiro and Minas Geraes were claimed in an official communique which was issued here today.

The insurrectionists have been completely subdued in the southern part of Minas Geraes and throughout Rio De Janeiro, the communique declared. Frequent raids by federal planes equipped with machine-guns drove the rebels back with heavy losses, it was declared.

Unconfirmed reports from Pernambuco stated the rebels had killed General Vandeley, federal commandant of the region, as well as the vice-president of Parahyba state.

The city of Rio De Janeiro continued to remain calm, the only signs of warfare here being city-wide posters calling out all reserves up to the age of 30 years and the frequent arrival of police and federal troops from Minas Geraes with prisoners.

PICK MURDER OF WOMAN IS TOLD BY BOY

Negro Admits Cutting Matron At Reformatory Until She Was Dead.

USED ICE PICK

Hatred of Woman's Husband One Reason.

MEDIA, Pa., Oct. 8.—The "ice pick" murder of Mrs. Vida Robare, attractive 33-year old matron of the Glen Mills reform school for boys was solved today with the obtaining of a confession from Alexander McClay Williamson, 18-year old negro inmate of the institution.

Williamson, Delaware-co officials said, confessed he stabbed his pretty mentor to death with an ice pick despite her pleadings when she caught him in the act of stealing a box of shoe polish from her cottage.

Bitter hatred of the woman's husband also was given by the negro as a reason for his act. Officials, however, are skeptical of his explanations in view of the fact the woman's body was found partially disrobed.

The boy in a lengthy confession declared he plunged the ice pick into Mrs. Robare's body until she ceased to move. She offered him money, he said, if he would stop but he refused to listen to her entreaties.

Williamson gave detectives a graphic picture of the tragedy. He explained that he had been working with the powerhouse gang on Friday and had been sent to the tool house to get a half dozen shovels. He brought back the implements along with a slip of paper which he asked the foreman to sign so he could return to the tool house with a receipt for the tools. The foreman signed the paper and Williamson left the gang apparently bound for the tool house again.

"I didn't go there though," he said. "That was only an excuse. I wanted to get to the Robare cottage to steal a box of shoe polish from the dining room closet. I went into the building and tried to open the closet with a knife. This didn't work and I decided to get Mrs. Robare's keys."

"On the way upstairs I picked up the ice pick in the kitchen. I thought that if Mrs. Robare was in her room and started anything I would kill her."

"The door to her room was open and I walked in. She was combing her hair. She told me to get out. Then she made a move toward me and I stabbed her a couple of times. She tried to fight me off but I stabbed her some more."

"Then I gave her a push and she fell back on the bed. She asked me to stop and said she would give me some money. I kept on stabbing her some more. I guess I stabbed her 20 or 25 times."

"Every time she moved I stabbed her again. When she stopped moving I stopped."

FIRE CAUSE

The disastrous flames that wrecked the building at the mouth of the slope mine broke out early this morning. The origin of the fire could not be determined immediately. All efforts were being directed to the rescue of the imprisoned miners.

Smoldering timbers of the fire-eaten building at the mouth of the mine balked the efforts of the rescue squads in reaching the imprisoned men.

One miner who had been working at prying away the debris reported that he had heard the firing of the entombed men. No shouts have been heard from the trapped men, however. It was believed that the men still alive their conditions are fairly critical.

A man who was said to be a porter from Canton was seen breaking into the mouth of the mine but he was overcome by smoke before he could reach the imprisoned miners.

The fire, according to the latest report of rescuers, is still burning inside the mouth of the mine.

W. F. Caskey has been returning to his home in E. High-st. from St. Carmel hospital where he has been for three weeks' taking treatments for high blood pressure.

DALTON, O., Is Scene of Accident Caused by Mouth of Mine Burning.

Three men were entombed in a slope mine of the Dalton Coal Company, two miles south of here today, when fire destroyed a building at the mouth of the mine and cluttered the gap with debris.

The imprisoned men are Russell Shanklin, Robert Douglas and Harvey Sword, all miners.

Latest reports from rescue crews that are working desperately to break through the shoddering wreckage covering the mouth of the mine indicate that the imprisoned men are still alive. It was not believed, however, that they would be able to hold out much longer because of the clouds of smoke which the fire swept into the mine.

Water Service Co. Is Also Criticized

City Without Fire Protection From Friday 6 P. M. To Sunday Noon.

WISE EMPHATIC

Says Water Pressure Down To 10 Pounds.

Censoring the city police department for laxity in enforcing traffic regulations and assailing the Ohio Water Service Co. for insufficient water supply during the great fire at the Container Corporation of America last Friday night and Saturday morning, Fire Chief Talmer Wise told members of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening of the essential needs of his department and some of the difficulties which arose during the fire which did damage upward of $125,000.

Wise, in no shy way, told the Chamber of Commerce that had it not been for the help of sheriff's deputies during the fire in handling traffic as well as they could the fire might have caused even more loss than it did. The fire chief, who has been praised by all citizens who saw him and his department in action during the holocaust, said that four members of the police department were at the fire. He stated one of the men was working as hard as he could in helping firemen, while the other three stood near the scene with their arms crossed, watching the progress of the flames, while automobiles were being parked round the fire department's pumper nearly preventing firemen from driving where they were most needed. Wise said that on several occasions the driver of his truck was forced to get out of the way of an automobile driver instead of the auto being moved to permit the fire-truck to pass.

IGNORRED ORDINANCE

City council during September passed a traffic ordinance stating specifically that automobiles should be parked not within 300 feet of the scene of a fire. The chief said that autos were parked in the alleys, in the road and some left locked and practically immovable.

Still no arrests were made although three of the city policemen watched the fire.

Mr. Wise in emphatic terms said "We can't fight fires, traffic and people and expect to come out a winner every time. It's impossible. I am asking your help to remedy these things."

The matter of city water pressure which started at 60 pounds and gradually dropped until early Saturday morning when 10 pounds was registered, not enough to operate a pumper, was thoroughly discussed by the fire chief.

The chief said that there were only six lines of hose being used from the city mains while there were 19 being operated from the straw-board water supply system. Wise said that if he would had to have depended on the city water supply alone the entire straw-yard would have been ruined and no one knows what else.

He said that had another fire occurred in the city between the hours of 6 p. m. Friday and Sunday noon nothing could have been done by the department to fight it because the 10-pound pressure was not sufficient to extinguish a bonfire.

PRAISE CHIEF

A. C. Moore, general manager of the straw-board plant, stated after Wise's talk that he greatly appreciated the work of the fire chief, the fire department and many citizens for their help in fighting the blaze. He named Wise as a conscientious man and a mighty hard worker.

A few of the things Wise stated concerning his supply of water follow:

There were no steamer outlets on fire hydrants to hook a pumper although they have been promised at least a year by the water company; small two and one-half inch openings in hydrants do not give enough volume of water to run the pumper at its capacity although these also have been promised; the water company did not have direct pressure at any time during the fire. Wise stated here that water officials contend that they cannot give direct pressure because the Ohio Inspection Bureau says not to because more pressure may blow out water mains. He continued that the bureau has no authority to tell any corporation what they can and cannot do.

"When the new pumper was purchased it was tested by the inspection bureau, not in town where it is used, but in the Scioto River where the city is not called to fight fires. Why was this done? Simply because there is no place in the city where a pumper of this size could be used. The only reason they could give me was that the city was growing and a large pumper would soon be needed. The city may grow but water mains will never grow," continued the speaker.

DEPARTMENT NEEDS

The chief then told the members of the Chamber the needs of the fire department; 1,000 feet of hose at $1.35 per foot; two gas masks, cost $50 each and one life net cost $150. Wise said that he has asked council several times for these things but apparently the money is not available.

Figures showing the number of fires in the city in the past three years were given by Chief Wise showing that 1930 so far has produced six more fires than the complete year 1929 and 12 more than 1928. Damage by fires in 1929 was $3,380 and in 1928 $4,018.10.

Manager Street has definitely decided to pitch "Bill" Hallahan against the A's in this vital game, for the Red Birds must win or lose the series. If he switches the lineup, as International News Service learned he intended to do, either Blades or Watkins will bat fourth in Bottomley's place. Blades would be in the game if "Lefty" Grove or any other southpaw pitches whereas Watkins would play in the event Manager Connie Mack selects a right hander to do the hurling.

HAFFEY FIFTH

Hafey would remain fifth on the batting order and Bottomley would move down to sixth. The reason Bottomley has been hitting so poorly is that he has been facing only left handed pitching and he is at his best against right handers. He is in a terrible slump but his fielding has been of the highest order. There is no danger that Orsatti will be used at first base in Bottomley's place, as has been suggested.

"Yes, I think I can beat the A's again. We all feel that this series is going into the seventh game. I know that Simmons, Fox and Cochrane are great hitters." Continued on Page six.

BRAZIL TROOPS MEN ENTOMBED DRIVE REBELS IN OHIO MINE

Insurrectionists are Completely
Subdued by Government;
Machine Guns Used.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 8.—Important federal victories over the Brazilian revolutionists in states of Rio De Janeiro and Minas Geraes were claimed in an official communication which was issued here today.

The insurrectionists have been completely subdued in the southern part of Minas Geraes and throughout Rio De Janeiro, the communiqué declared. Frequent raids by federal planes equipped with machine-guns drove the rebels back with heavy losses, it was declared.

Unconfirmed reports from Pernambuco stated the rebels had killed General Vanderley, federal commandant of the region, as well as the vice-president of Parahyba state.

The city of Rio De Janeiro continued to remain calm, the only signs of warfare here being city-wide posters calling out all reserves up to the age of 30 years and the frequent arrival of police and federal troops from Minas Geraes with prisoners.

PICK MURDER OF WOMAN IS TOLD BY BOY

Negro Admits Cutting Matron
At Reformatory Until
She Was Dead.

USED ICE PICK

Hatred of Woman's Husband
One Reason.

MEDIA, Pa., Oct. 8.—The "ice pick" murder of Mrs. Vida Robare, attractive 33-year old matron of the Glen Mills reform school for boys was solved today with the obtaining of a confession from Alexander McClay Williamson, 18-year old negro inmate of the institution.

Williamson, Delaware-co officials said, confessed he stabbed his pretty mentor to death with an ice pick despite her pleadings when she caught him in the act of stealing a box of shoe polish from her cottage.

Bitter hatred of the woman's husband also was given by the negro as a reason for his act. Officials, however, are skeptical of his explanations in view of the fact the woman's body was found partially disrobed.

The boy in a lengthy confession declared he plunged the ice pick into Mrs. Robare's body until she ceased to move. She offered him money, he said, if he would stop but he refused to listen to her entreaties.

Williamson gave detectives a graphic picture of the tragedy. He explained that he had been working with the powerhouse gang on Friday and had been sent to the tool house to get a half dozen shovels. He brought back the implements along with a slip of paper which he asked the foreman to sign so he could return to the tool house with a receipt for the tools. The foreman signed the paper and Williamson left the gang apparently bound for the tool house again.

"I didn't go there though," he said. "That was only an excuse. I wanted to get to the Robare cottage to steal a box of shoe polish from the dining room closet. I went into the building and tried to open the closet with a knife. This didn't work and I decided to get Mrs. Robare's keys."

"On the way upstairs I picked up the ice pick in the kitchen. I thought that if Mrs. Robare was in her room and started anything I would kill her."

"The door to her room was open and I walked in. She was combing her hair. She told me to get out. Then she made a move toward me and I stabbed her a couple of times. She tried to fight me off but I stabbed her some more."

"Then I gave her a push and she fell back on the bed. She asked me to stop and said she would give me some money. I kept on stabbing her some more. I guess I stabbed her 20 or 25 times."

"Every time she moved I stabbed her again. When she stopped moving I stopped."

Water Service Co. Is Also Criticized

City Without Fire Protection
From Friday 6 P. M. To Sunday Noon.

WISE EMPHATIC

Says Water Pressure Down To 10 Pounds.

Censuring the city police department for laxity in enforcing traffic regulations and assailing the Ohio Water Service Co. for insufficient water supply during the great fire at the Container Corporation of America last Friday night and Saturday morning, Fire Chief Talmer Wise told members of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening of the essential needs of his department and some of the difficulties which arose during the fire which did damage upward of $125,000.

Wise, in no shy way, told the Chamber of Commerce that had it not been for the help of sheriff's deputies during the fire in handling traffic as well as they could the fire might have caused even more loss than it did. The fire chief, who has been praised by all citizens who saw he and his department in action during the holocaust, said that four members of the police department were at the fire. He stated one of the men was working as hard as he could in helping firemen, while the other three stood near the scene with their arms crossed, watching the progress of the flames, while automobiles were being parked round the fire department's pumper nearly preventing firemen from driving where they were most needed. Wise said that on several occasions, the driver of his truck was forced to get out of the way of an automobile driver instead of the auto being moved to permit the fire-truck to pass.

IGNORED ORDINANCE
City council during September passed a traffic ordinance stating specifically that automobiles should be parked not within 300 feet of the scene of a fire. The chief said that autos were parked in the alleys, in the road and some left locked and practically immovable.

Still no arrests were made although three of the city policemen watched the fire.

Mr. Wise in emphatic terms said "We can't fight fires, traffic and people and expect to come out a winner everytime. It's impossible. I am asking your help to remedy these things."

The matter of city water pressure which started at 60 pounds and gradually dropped until early Saturday morning when 10 pounds was registered, not enough to operate a pumper, was thoroughly discussed by the fire chief.

The chief said that there were only six lines of hose being used from the city mains while there were 19 being operated from the straw-board water supply system. Wise said that if he would had to have depended on the city water supply alone the entire straw-yard would have been ruined and no one knows what else.

He said that had another fire occurred in the city between the hours of 6 p. m. Friday and Sunday noon nothing could have been done by the department to fight it because the 10-pound pressure was not sufficient to extinguish a bonfire.

PRAISE CHIEF
A. C. Moore, general manager of the straw-board plant, stated after Wise's talk that he greatly appreciated the work of the fire chief, the fire department and many citizens for their help in fighting the blaze. He named Wise as a conscientious man and a mighty hard worker.

A few of the things Wise stated concerning his supply of water follow:

There were no steamers outlets on fire hydrants to hook a pumper although they have been promised at least a year by the water company; small two and one-half inch openings in hydrants do not give enough volume of water to run the pumper at its capacity although these also have been promised; the water company did not give direct pressure at any time during the fire. Wise stated here that water officials contend that they cannot give direct pressure because the Ohio Inspection Bureau says not to because more pressure may blow out water mains. He continued that the bureau has no authority to tell any corporation what they can and cannot do.

"When the new pumper was purchased it was tested by the inspection bureau, not in town where it is used, but in the Scioto River where the city is not called to fight fires. Why was this done? Simply because there is no place in the city where a pumper of this size could be used. The only reason they could give me was that the city was growing and a large pumper would soon be needed. The city may grow but water mains will never grow," continued the speaker.

DEPARTMENT NEEDS
The chief then told the members of the Chamber the needs of the fire department; 1,000 feet of hose at $1.35 per foot; two gas masks, cost $50 each and one life net cost $150. Wise said that he has asked council several times for these things, but apparently the money is not available.

Figures showing the number of fires in the city in the past three years were given by Chief Wise showing that 1930 so far has produced six more fires than the complete year 1929 and 12 more than 1928. Damage by fires in 1929 was $3,380 and in 1928 $4,018.10.

CHARGE 5 WITH BABY'S DEATH

MIDDLEBOURNE, W. Va., Oct. 8.—Five warrants, charging first-degree murder in connection with the brutal slaying of 3-year-old Garland Bailey, were served Tuesday by Sheriff William P. Eaker, the officials said.

The five persons are charged with the killing are Charles Henry, 54; his brother, Ray Henry, 31; Mrs. Eva Eddy Bailey, 40, the slain baby's mother; Clyde McBee, 40, and James Dunn, 29.

Preliminary hearings will be delayed until Charles Henry recovers from knife wounds which he inflicted Sunday night in an attempted suicide in his cell at the New Martinsville jail. The hearings will be held before Squire H. M. Adams, who issued the murder warrants.

Mrs. Bailey is held in Tyler-co jail here and the four men are held at New Martinsville.

Ray Henry, police say, has confessed that Dunn, McBee and he (Ray Henry) killed the baby with their bare hands, under the direction of Charles, and then threw the mangled body into the river. The killing occurred last week during an alleged drinking orgy at Grandview Island.

The theory that business would be better if people played more golf is true for the golf ball industry.

AT THE MET

An absolutely new kind of photoplay, "The White Hell of Fitz Palu," has opened at the Met theatre. It is thrilling, awe-inspiring, tense with drama, it has something never done before on the screen—a vocal dramatization by the greatest of broadcasters, Graham McNamee, the N. B. C. star, who is also famous as the Talking Reporter of the Universal News-reel.

The picture, produced by Dr. Arnold Fanck in the high Alps of Switzerland, has a highly dramatic story into which are woven the most astonishing thrills ever seen on the screen. The adventures of the three main characters—the husband, the wife, and the strange figure of Dr. Johannes Kraft—form a tense story, in which Peak Palu itself is the villain.

AT THE CLIFTONA

A girl can never tell these days

with whom she is falling in love. Imagine Evelyn Brent's surprise when she discovers the true identity of the suave Englishman, Clive Brook, in "Slightly Scarlet." And yours will be when you see this thrilling romance, sense its gripping drama at the Cliftona theatre during its run. It opened last night.

Evelyn Brent was never more alluringly attractive, more gorgeously gowned than she is in "Slightly Scarlet." Nor was the handsome Brook ever more charmingly whimsical, even in "Charming Sinners," than in this strange melodrama of another charming sinner who looks for high ideals and high station in her men friends and falls in love with .... what? That's the one of the big surprises in "Slightly Scarlet."

AT THE GRAND

Two actors who did their share in making "The King of Kings," one of the most successful of silent pictures produced, portray roles in "Wild Company," Fox Movietone all talking emotional drama coming to the Grand Theatre.

They are H. B. Warner, who enacted the role of "The Christ" and Kenneth Thomson, who appeared as "Lazarus."

In "Wild Company" Warner enacts the role of Henry Grayson, father of Larry Grayson, the unrestrained youth who becomes enmeshed in a cabaret murder, while Thomson appears as the mendacious racketeer who frames the boy.

HUNT HUSBAND OF DEAD WOMAN

CLEVELAND, Oct. 8.—George W. E. Perry, alleged bigamous husband of a Cleveland seamstress, was sought by Chicago and Wisconsin authorities here today following the discovery of a woman's body, believed to be that of his second wife, Mrs. Cora Bell Hackett, 42, Chicago, near the Lac Du Flambeau Indian reservation in Wisconsin.

Reports here stated that the murdered woman has apparently been strangled to death. Because of the badly decomposed condition of the body, it was said, positive identification has been hindered.

Mrs. Katherine G. Perry, the other wife of the hunted man, stated today that she last saw her husband in July when he came here presumably from Wisconsin. He left shortly after his return, Mrs. Perry said.

MEDINA MURDER TRIAL IS BEGUN

MEDINA, O., Oct. 8.—Evidence taking in the trial of Sam Yakus, Barberian, on charges of aiding and abetting the first-degree murder of Dolly Koslowski, Barberian's girl-mother, last Aug. 1, was expected to begin in common pleas court here today.

Selection of a jury consumed yesterday's session of the trial which is being held before Judge N. H. McClure.

Among the witnesses who will testify against Yakus is William Evans, 26, lover of the slain girl, who recently pleaded guilty to a charge of murder and was sentenced to life imprisonment in Ohio Penitentiary.

Fire Problems

DIFFICULTIES encountered by the Circleville fire department in combating the Container Corporation fire were aired at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday evening.

Chief Wise stated "that the water supply furnished by the Ohio Water Service Co., was inadequate to successfully fight such a fire and were it not for the water system of the Container Corporation they would have been helpless. After the city water was used for some time the pressure dropped to 10 pounds, which is useless. The hose equipment of the local department is inadequate to cope with a situation such as this and every foot of hose was being used last Friday."

If another fire had occurred in the city there would have been no equipment to use in combating it. Traffic congestion interfered with the work and the city police department gave no assistance whatever in helping firemen cope with the situation.

"We cannot fight traffic and fight fires with no water supply and expect to render the kind of service the people are entitled to."

This is a terrible situation for a city the size of Circleville. It is unfortunate that such a fire occurred in Circleville and it is fortunate that other cities came to our assistance. What the city officials, and all others interested in the welfare of Circleville, should do is to recognize these facts and take immediate steps to remedy each one of them.

Will those responsible wait until another fire hits Circleville, with perhaps a greater loss of property and perhaps life, before action is taken? We hope not.

When we pay our debts, business will be better; and when business is better, we can pay our debts.

Allegiance

ON October 1 Mrs. Carl Landis took the oath of allegiance of a citizen of the United States. It ended a court battle of a year and a half. Mrs. Landis had been twice ended a court battle of a year and a half. Mrs. Landis had been twice ended a court battle of a year and a half. Mrs. Landis had been twice ended a court battle of a year and a half.

This seems like a sensible outcome to a rather foolish contest. The oath of allegiance may include a pledge to bear arms, but the government would never require the act of women citizens, native or naturalized. Conscientious objections to fighting are given due consideration in time of war and should the more easily be accepted in time of peace.

Who Was Columbus?

The Peruvian scholar who announced that Columbus was not a Genoese but a Catalonian corsair must have been thinking of a couple of other fellows. At least, that is the way present-day Genoese scholars look at the matter. They have an imposing array of documents, records and references concerning Columbus which they urge the Peruvian to study for himself. He will find, they say, documents, including a genealogical tree, which establish the birth and family of Columbus in Genoa.

Registered documents showing the presence and life of Columbus in Genoa and Liguria; Papers regarding the maritime voyages of Columbus up to the period of his life establishment in Portugal;

Documents relating to his life in Portugal and to the preparations for the expedition which discovered the New World.

One of these papers is considered conclusive. It is a letter written by Columbus to the Bank of St. George, in which he wrote, "I have been born in Genoa." It may be assumed that the writer knew what he was talking about. Yet Shakespeare is said to have spelled his own name three different ways in writing his will.

After all, what great difference does it make, so long as the New World was discovered and Shakespeare's plays were written?

The president of Ecuador recalls his "irrevocable decision" to retire. To a public office holder nothing is irrevocable.

GOING AGAINST OUR GRAIN

"JUDY" By Winifred Van Duzer

PEGGY ARCHER would have preferred her daughter, Judith, to be a little more carefree and frivolous, instead of a purposeful and sensible young woman. There was, however, a lighter side to Judith's nature—one she loved life and romance. Could her mother have seen her capering through dance steps in the seclusion of her classroom, she would have held a different opinion of her daughter. But the responsibility of supporting her mother by teaching school, following her father's death, causes Judy to curb pleasure. She dislikes men. An old friend, Captain Charley Marceau, persuades her to book passage for her mother and herself for a cruise on his ship "Mekawak." She meets Kit Camp, the ship's wireless operator.

CHAPTER V.
JUDY asked no questions about the boxes and bundles the station taxi man left all over the hall. But she did learn that the sports dress would be a three-piece suit, almond green, and not plain at all, what with a plicated skirt and a scarf bordered by gold and salmon pink. She admitted that the colors were pretty, but objected that it did not seem durable. Peggy giggled. Pretended to be helplessly amused. "Let's be frivolous for once, Judy. Forget next season and next month. Squander today. Grow like a butterfly wing. Care to see the rest of your things tonight?"

"Umm—"
"Tomorrow, then." But Peggy did not mention the matter and Judy would not admit that she was interested enough to speak of it first. And since Peggy insisted upon taking care of all the packing herself they were somewhere off the coast of Maine before Judy suspected the truth about her new wardrobe. Then it was too late for anything to be done.

They were sailing on the Mohawk's first excursion cruise of the season. And by Friday noon the trunk was packed and sent away and Peggy was having a shampoo and wave and massage and manicure in her room. But Judy got out, Hannibal, and in spite of the knocking engine, drove ten miles to a movie theatre which was showing the storm at sea.

Peggy worried about a dozen things over night. Supposing it should rain tomorrow. Supposing they should miss the ferry. Now the trunk—the trunk! Supposing they lost their ticket. Supposing the trunk didn't arrive safely.

"The bush us, Mother. There isn't much hard luck in you can think of."

"It isn't got a feeling well be done."

They were not late. The sun shone and their trunk was carried aboard just in the taxi put down at the end of a long, charming line waiting to board the ship.

Judy sat on the deck and looked out at the sea. Movement. Noise. Laughter. The ship was full of life.

Dinner off the table had been a wonderful success. But it was not the dinner that Judy loved. It was the after-dinner party that she loved. Her arms were full of flowers, and she was laughing and talking and laughing and talking.

Judy herself knew that she looked lovely and was having a good time. But she was not alone. She was with her mother and her mother was with her.

Judy had to admit this. Young men and young women, and men and women not so young. They were pairing off. Later she learned that the party would shift rapidly for a few hours and finally everybody would settle down in two.

A young man loitered by, touched his cap, gave her a half inquiring smile. "Well, think you'll like it?"

"No." The tone, she said with little Roy Varman.

The young man muttered "Gosh!" and fled.

Then a tall figure came along the deck, smiling with a relaxed air, hat in hand, gazing out to sea. Wavy brown hair stirred by the wind, half smiling lips parted over marvelously white, marvelously even teeth.

His eyes were great like the sea where waves are deep. Judy caught her breath. Heat wrapped her throat, crept up her cheeks, circled her forehead. Oh, outrageous! Never in her life had she blushed before, and here she stood like a lummox staring and trying to swallow the lump in her throat because a man was passing, because he would speak to her, perhaps.

She put her arm on the rail, touched his cap, gave her a half inquiring smile. "Well, think you'll like it?"

"No." The tone, she said with little Roy Varman.

The young man muttered "Gosh!" and fled.

Then a tall figure came along the deck, smiling with a relaxed air, hat in hand, gazing out to sea. Wavy brown hair stirred by the wind, half smiling lips parted over marvelously white, marvelously even teeth.

His eyes were great like the sea where waves are deep. Judy caught her breath. Heat wrapped her throat, crept up her cheeks, circled her forehead. Oh, outrageous! Never in her life had she blushed before, and here she stood like a lummox staring and trying to swallow the lump in her throat because a man was passing, because he would speak to her, perhaps.

She put her arm on the rail, touched his cap, gave her a half inquiring smile. "Well, think you'll like it?"

"No." The tone, she said with little Roy Varman.

MOTHER'S VOICE

From the American Israelite

A German letter written 50 years ago by a mother to her son on his departure for American is reproduced herewith in facsimile with a translation.

In the lines of this missive the maternal instinct is supreme. Together with a strong religious appeal, the mother-heart cannot withstand the temptation to caution her son about his health and his friendships. There is a wisdom in the appeal that she remains his confidant in all his difficulties. It is almost as if the Every-mother were talking to Every-son. Had it been written but yesterday, a mother's true sentiment could not be better expressed.

11 P. M., Sept. 30, 1880.

My dear Son:
The long-expected has come to pass your trip to America. You realize, my dear son, the heart-pangs I suffer at the thought of your going. It is your wish and it shall be. May the Almighty guide and protect you from all evil and always be with you.

Put your trust in Him and He will lead you in the right way. Be brave and good and continue your filial affection. Do not forget our sacred religion. It will bring you comfort and consolation; it will teach you patience and endurance, no matter how trying the circumstances, or difficult the trial.

Whether your life is one of success or of struggle, whether rich or poor, keep God before your eyes and in your heart.

You are going out into the wide world, far from parents, brothers and sisters. It will be trying for you but you are blessed with many good qualities and my heart is confident that no harm will befall you. Commit your way unto the Lord and he will bring it to pass.

Be careful in your business associations and particularly in forming friendships. Above all guard your health, for that is the greatest gift on earth.

I would like to and I could say much more to you, my dear son—but it is very distressing for me. I only say:

"Travel with God. Be ever cheerful and courageous, and put to good use all that you have been taught."

Though a great distance separates us and you are far from parental care, my thought of you will never cease so long as my heart beats.

The hope that our separation will be of short duration is my only consolation.

An so, my dear son, I bid you adieu. Write frequently and let me be your confidant regarding what happens to you. Do not imbue yourself with the idea of settling down so far away from us and let me live in the expectation of not being without you too long. Tears come to my eyes; you will therefore have to excuse my poor handwriting.

Your ever faithful mother.

P. S.—Tomorrow marks the advent of your 20th birthday and the start of your big journey. May everything be for the best and you be rich in happiness.

Fire Problems

DIFFICULTIES encountered by the Circleville fire department in combating the Container Corporation fire were aired at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday evening.

Chief Wise stated "that the water supply furnished by the Ohio Water Service Co. was inadequate to successfully fight such a fire and were it not for the water system of the Container Corporation they would have been helpless. After the city water was used for some time the pressure dropped to 10 pounds, which is useless. The hose equipment of the local department is inadequate to cope with a situation such as this and every foot of hose was being used last Friday."

If another fire had occurred in the city there would have been no equipment to use in combating it. Traffic congestion interfered with the work and the city police department gave no assistance whatever in helping firemen cope with the situation.

"We cannot fight traffic and fight fires with no water supply and expect to render the kind of service the people are entitled to."

This is a terrible situation for a city the size of Circleville.

It is unfortunate that such a fire occurred in Circleville and it is fortunate that other cities came to our assistance. What the city officials, and all others interested in the welfare of Circleville, should do is to recognize these facts and take immediate steps to remedy each one of them.

Will those responsible wait until another fire hits Circleville, with perhaps a greater loss of property and perhaps life, before action is taken? We hope not.

When we pay our debts, business will be better; and when business is better, we can pay our debts.

Allegiance

ON October 1 Mrs. Carl Landis took the oath of allegiance to a citizen of the United States. It ended a court battle of a year and a half. Mrs. Landis had been twice ended a court battle of a year and a half. Mrs. Landis had been twice ended a court battle of a year and a half. Mrs. Landis had been twice ended a court battle of a year and a half.

This seems like a sensible outcome to a rather foolish contest. The oath of allegiance may include a pledge to bear arms, but the government would never require the act of women citizens, native or naturalized. Conscientious objections to fighting are given due consideration in time of war and should the more easily be accepted in time of peace.

Who Was Columbus?

The Peruvian scholar who announced that Columbus was not a Genoese but a Catalonian corsair must have been thinking of a couple of other fellows. At least, that is the way present-day Genoese scholars look at the matter. They have an imposing array of documents, records and references concerning Columbus which they urge the Peruvian to study for himself. He will find, they say:

Documents, including a genealogical tree, which establish the birth and family of Columbus in Genoa;

Registered documents showing the presence and life of Columbus in Genoa and Liguria;

Papers regarding the maritime voyages of Columbus up to the period of his life establishment in Portugal;

Documents relating to his life in Portugal and to the preparations for the expedition which discovered the New World.

One of these papers is considered conclusive. It is a letter written by Columbus to the Bank of St. George, in which he wrote, "I have been born in Genoa." It may be assumed that the writer knew what he was talking about. Yet Shakespeare is said to have spelled his own name three different ways in writing his will.

After all, what great difference does it make, so long as the New World was discovered and Shakespeare's plays were written?

GOING AGAINST OUR GRAIN

"JUDY" By Winifred Van Duzer

PEGGY ARCHER would have preferred her daughter, Judith, to be a little more carefree and frivolous, instead of a purposeful and sensible young woman. There was, however, a lighter side to Judith's nature—one that loved life and romance. Could her mother have seen her capering through dance steps in the seclusion of her classroom, she would have held a different opinion of her daughter. But the responsibility of supporting her mother by teaching school, following her father's death, causes Judy to curb pleasure. She dislikes men. An old friend, Captain Charley Marceau, persuades her to book passage for her mother and herself for a cruise on his ship "Mokawk." She meets Kit Camp, the ship's wireless operator.

CHAPTER V.

JUDY asked no questions about the boxes and bundles the station taxi man left all over the hall. But she did learn that the sports dress would be a three-piece suit, almond green, and not plain at all, what with a pleated skirt and a scarf bordered by gold and salmon pink. She admitted that the colors were pretty, but objected that it did not seem durable. Peggy giggled. "Pretended to be helplessly amused. 'Let's be frivolous for once, Judy. Forget next season and next month. Squander today. Grow butterfly wings. . . . Care to see the rest of your things tonight?'"

"Umm—." "Tomorrow, then." But Peggy did not mention the matter and Judy would not admit that she was interested enough to speak of it first. And since Peggy insisted upon taking care of all the packing herself they were somewhere off the coast of Maine before Judy suspected the truth about her new wardrobe. Then it was too late for anything to be done.

They were sailing on the Mohawk's first excursion cruise of the season. And by Friday noon the trunk was packed and sent away and Peggy was having a shampoo and wave and massage and manicure in her room. But Judy got out, Hannah, and in spite of the knocking engine, drove ten miles to a movie theatre which was showing the storm at sea.

Peggy worried about a dozen things over night. Supposing it should rain tomorrow? Supposing they should miss the ferry? Miss the train—the boat? Supposing they lost their tickets? Supposing the trunk didn't arrive safely?

"Do hush up, Mother. There isn't as much hard luck as you can think of."

"But I've got a feeling we'll be late."

They were not late. The sun shone and their trunk was carried aboard just as the taxi put them down at the end of a shifting, chattering line waiting to board the ship.

Judy sat on the deck and watched. Color. Movement. Noise. Laughter. Kisses.

Dozen of times she had been the center of scenes like this. But it always was in that shadowy world where the other Judy lived; always it was the other Judy who tripped up gangplanks, her arms filled with flowers, laughing, waving, calling good-byes. The other Judy who wrapped herself in rainbows, trod on sparkles, wore stars in her hair.

Judy herself knew that she looked severe and uninteresting, rather school-teacherish in spite of the almond green suit and the soft little almond green hat Peggy had bought to match. Tortoiseshell-rimmed spectacles—nose gone shiny since she wouldn't use her vanity in public—hair too tight behind her ears.

Put your trust in Him and He will lead you in the right way. Be brave and good and continue your filial affection. Do not forget our sacred religion. It will bring you comfort and consolation; it will teach you patience and endurance, no matter how trying the circumstances, or difficult the trial.

Whether your life is one of success or of struggle, whether rich or poor, keep God before your eyes and in your heart.

You are going out into the wide world, far from parents, brothers and sisters. It will be trying for you but you are blessed with many good qualities and my heart is confident that no harm will befall you. Commit your way unto the Lord and he will bring it to pass.

Be careful in your business associations and particularly in forming friendships. Above all guard your health, for that is the greatest gift on earth.

I would like to and I could say much more to you, my dear son—but it is very distressing for me. I only say:

"Travel with God, be ever cheerful and courageous, and put to good use all that you have been taught."

Though a great distance separates us and you are far from parental care, my thought of you will never cease so long as my heart beats.

The hope that our separation will be of short duration is my only consolation.

An so, my dear son, I bid you adieu. Write frequently and let me be your confidant regarding what happens to you. Do not imbue yourself with the idea of settling down so far away from us and let me live in the expectation of not being without you too long. Tears come to my eyes; you will therefore have to excuse my poor handwriting.

Your ever faithful mother.

P. S.—Tomorrow marks the advent of your 20th birthday and the start of your big journey. May everything be for the best and you be rich in happiness.

Leather From Odd Sources

A late development in the manufacture of leather from sea creatures is the utilization of skins of sea lions and hair seals and the intestines and mouth linings of whales. Leather made from the intestines of whale is very soft, resembling chamois or kid. This intestines of a 60-foot whale are about 75 feet long and when opened and laid out are about 18 inches wide.

PRAISES DOCTOR AS INDIGESTION PAINS VANISH

"For seven years I kept trying medicines, hoping to get relief from indigestion," says Mrs. Grace Wheeler, 153 Church St., Highland Park, Detroit, Michigan. "Nothing helped me. I got so I never felt quite right; was tired and weak. I would bloat and have awful sick headaches after every meal."

"Now it's a different story. I got back most of my lost weight in a few months and feel fine. Nearly everything agrees with me. When anything starts to disagree, a tablet of Diapepsin has me comfortable in a minute."

"My doctor ordered me to take these wonderful tablets and I sure thank him for his advice. They're just like candy to eat; but they work better than any medicine I could find."

For years, leading physicians have endorsed Pape's Diapepsin. All drug stores sell the handy boxes. Get one and the next time heartburn, headache or nausea appears, soothe your stomach and make digestion complete with one or two of the pleasant, candy-like tablets. # Labor Demands 2.75 Beer And Five-Day Week

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—A call to American workers to immediately demand a five-day week from industry was sounded by William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, in a ringing address opening the national convention of the federation Monday.

"I hope it may be the inflexible purpose of members of the American Federation of Labor to impress upon industry an uncompromising demand that the five day work week be immediately established," said President Green. "I am of the firm opinion that we have arrived at a period in history that introduction of the five day week in all industry should be immediately inaugurated," President Green continued.

"The effect in production means an increase in leisure and an opportunity for the workers to enjoy life. It means that American workers should be able to produce the world needs in a shorter day and a shorter day week."

President Green referred to the problems facing the Federation of Labor convention held here in 1889. He pointed out that at that time the ten and eleven hour work day was in effect, safety and sanitation in industry were unknown, workmen's compensation and welfare legislation were pictured as visionary, that the federation advocated immigration laws, that state militia was used to intimidate workers and that participation of workers in political affairs was limited.

BUSINESS GOING UPWARD BELIEF

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Business is swinging upward and wages are holding firm, a nationwide survey presented to the national association of manufacturers revealed today. The survey embraced reports of 800 members and covered up to Sept. 30.

John E. Edgerton, Lebanon, woolen manufacturer, president of the association, in addressing its annual meeting here, said the trade slump, although widespread, was not sufficient to "weaken the confidence of understanding minds in the essential parts of our American economic system."

The association passed resolutions urging the government to let air mail contracts as speedily as possible, calling the air mail an "important facility of transportation for manufacturers." Another resolution opposed the entrance of the government in business, saying that the "function of our government is political, not economic."

IMMIGRATION TO BE DISCUSSED

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 8.—Recommendation for limitation of immigration from Mexico and Central America will be considered by the Daughters of America, national council, during the seventh biennial sessions here.

Max C. Roth, of Youngstown, state and national secretary, presided at a banquet for the national councilors, last night, who were welcomed to Columbus by Mayor Thomas. Mrs. Ethel Grabowsky, of Canton, directed a minstrel show.

Mrs. Hattie Van Buren, of Ossining, N. Y., is expected to be advanced to national councilor and Mrs. Sarah W. Johnson, Newark, N. J., present councilor, will become Junior past councilor.

BOMBS DAMAGE GARY RESORTS

GARY, Ind., Oct. 8.—Two bombs exploding only a few minutes apart Tuesday wrought considerable damage to four resorts here.

The explosions were attributed by police to Michigan City interests trying to "muscle in" on a Gary vice syndicate. One bomb exploded in the doorway of a resort known as the Liberty Inn, wrecked the fronts of the People's Inn and the Torres Hotel, driving fifteen persons from the Torres Hotel.

A block and a half away the second explosion partially wrecked the front of the Wabash Inn, a two story structure.

TWO KILLED IN CROSSING CRASH

WEST NEWTON, Pa., Oct. 8.—A grade crossing accident near here Tuesday had claimed the lives of Albert Zekkudi, 33, of Sutersville, and Charles Bigi, 35, also of Sutersville.

Zekkudi was killed instantly when the automobile in which he was riding with Bigi was struck by a westbound Baltimore & Ohio passenger train. Bigi died a short time later in a hospital from a fractured spine. An investigation will be held to determine the cause of the crash.

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—Labor's stand on the prohibition question and an unemployment program will form the major problems to be fought out by the American Federation of Labor convention which opened its sessions Monday.

Modification of the Volstead Act to permit 2.75 per cent beer was recommended to the convention by the executive council. The council's report also presented an unemployment program calling for reduction in hours of work, construction of public works in times of cyclical depression, a national system of employment agencies, and relief for those out of work, among other planks.

The highlight of the opening of America's "working man's Congress" was the address of President Hoover Monday afternoon.

President Hoover's address marked the first time a President has addressed an A. F. of L. convention since 1917 when President Woodrow Wilson spoke before the federation in Buffalo for support of wartime measures by labor.

Delegates from "dripping wet" urban sections were expected to demand that the convention vote for an outright repeal of the Volstead Act, some even sponsoring a repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

"We are of the firm conviction that the Volstead Act could be amended without violating the provisions of the 18th amendment," the report declares.

TWO RACKETEERS ARE MURDERED

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Two racketeers were dead and a bystander seriously wounded today, following a flareup of gang feuds.

Carmine Piraino, 23, son of "The Clutching Hand," was shot down in front of his apartment by two men who escaped. His father, "The Hand," was killed in almost the same way last March. Both the father and son were racketeers, police said.

Peter Morris, 44, a suspected dope runner, according to police, was shot and killed while playing cards. Joseph Rapuzzi, watching the card game, was wounded. The killer, who fired from a rear doorway, escaped.

MALONEY TOO FAST FOR ALP

Camera Fails To Register Single Knockdown Against Boston Trial Horse.

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Primo Camera, the ambulant Alp, is not a knockout menace when he is confronted with a nimble footed and reasonably courageous foe who possesses some boxing ability.

This is the impression some 10,000 hub boxing fans had today after watching Primo meet his first American defeat last night at the hands of Jimmy Maloney of Boston.

Camera with a 65-pound weight advantage and almost eight inches taller than Jimmy could not even knock down Maloney who has suffered at the hands of Jack Sharkey, George Godfrey, Leo Gates and Tom Heeney.

For all of Camera's 23 American victories, 22 by knockouts, Primo found that Maloney wasn't the last bit awed when the opening gong sounded. Jimmy was unusually belligerent. He stood up against the massive Italian as though he felt sure of winning.

In fact, after getting over the first round, Jimmy seemed to get additional confidence and fought back savagely. He maneuvered himself inside of Camera's leads with greater frequency, felted the big fellow beautifully and made Primo miss badly.

The defeat was disappointing to Camera's retinue, as Bill Duffy, et al, last evening closed with the Garden to have Primo meet Stribling in Miami. Whether Primo's failure to bring down his Boston rival will cause any change in these plans is unknown.

The fight was not the financial success anticipated. Receipts were $70,000. Camera's slice was $40,000 and Maloney's cut $15,000.

Camera proved that he could take a chin in his mixup just as he did against George Godfrey in Philadelphia, when he was awarded the decision on a foul.

HACK IS NAMED MOST VALUABLE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Hack Wilson, Chicago Cub outfielder, is the most valuable ballplayer in the National League.

The Bruin slugger was given that honor by a vote of a committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, attending the world series here.

Wilson just nosed out Frankie Frisch of the St. Louis Red Wings, by receiving 70 points out of a possible 80 to the Fordham Flash's 64.

Bill Terry, of the New York Giants, followed Frisch with 58 markers.

Purchasing Power

The phrase the "purchasing power of money" and the "general level of prices" are reciprocal. To say that the purchasing power of money is high or low is the same thing as to say that the general level of prices is low or high. If the price level is doubled, the purchasing power of money will be halved, and vice versa.

berg, guard, University of Chicago; Bernard Wien, University of Chicago, right end, and Ken Kruger, University of Wisconsin, center.

QUINN SORE AT JOE MCCARTHY

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Joe McCarthy may or may not sign to manage the New York Yankees. It's all the same to Bob Quinn, owner of the Red Sox, who in a statement declared that the Boston club was no longer interested in what McCarthy did.

Quinn was angry because, he said: "The Boston club is being given the run round by a man who can't make up his mind."

With McCarthy out of the picture Muddy Ruel loomed today as the next Red Sox manager. Muddy had the job all tied up last year, but Clark Griffith, of the Senators, wouldn't let him go.

This winter Ruel may make the proper arrangements and be able to take charge of the Red Sox at any time Bob Quinn wishes.

The commission will conduct a hearing on the application Oct. 31, starting at 10 a.m.

DAVEY WILL AID BULKLEY FIGHT

LORAIN, O., Oct. 8.—The senatorial campaign of Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland, received a decided boost, in the opinion of political experts today, with the entrance of Congressman Martin L. Davey, into the fight as an active participant.

Davey will carry the colors of the Democratic ticket throughout the entire state but will concentrate especially on Lorain, Summit, Medina and Portage counties—the counties that sent him to Congress four times.

Announcement of Davey's decision to participate actively in the current campaign came as Bulkley appeared here last night at an enthusiastic Democratic rally with George White, Marietta gubernatorial nominee, William B. Pickrel, Dayton, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, and Dow J. Harter of Akron, candidate for Congress.

Attempts of the national administration to "insure prosperity by presidential proclamation" were scored by Bulkley at the rally. He declared that the tariff laws have done as much to bring about the stock market collapse and subsequent business and industrial depression as anything else.

Harter, in a brief address at the rally, demanded repeal of the 18th amendment. He also attacked the national administration for its methods of doctoring business and industrial depression and unemployment.

Maybe the whole world will be rich when every country is exporting everything and importing nothing.

SANDUSKY FIRE LOSS $25,000

SANDUSKY, O., Oct. 8.—Smoke which spread from a small basement fire in the Camp building here Monday night, caused a damage of approximately $25,000 to merchandise in retail stores and offices overhead and in adjoining buildings, Fire Chief John D. Curtis declared today.

The fire, the origin of which has not been determined, started in the basement room below the Quality Boot Shop. Firemen held the blaze to the basement but the smoke ascended to the rooms above, damaging stock in the shoe store and in the dental parlors of Dr. C. E. Camps. The smoke spread to the Manhattan and Schade buildings nearby, ruining a large amount of stock in the Manhattan Clothing store and adjoining display rooms.

An investigation to determine the cause of the blaze was conducted by Fire Chief Curtis today.

FIRE DAMAGES MALT FACTORY

CLEVELAND, Oct. 8.—Damage resulting from an explosion which demolished the two-story frame building of the Alax Company, hop and malt dealers, and partially destroyed two adjacent buildings last night, was estimated at $15,000 by first assistant Fire Chief James E. Granger, today.

The explosion which occurred in the Alax Company building, is believed to have been caused by escaping gas. Fire which followed the explosion spread to the two adjoining buildings before firemen arrived on the scene.

ters. But how about some of the other fellows I have been pitching against during the regular season, such as Mark Wilson, Cuyler, O'Doul, Klein, Herman, Wright, Traynor, Terry and Lindstrom? Oh, no, those A's aren't worrying me in the slightest."

NAMES JOHNSON

In the event the Cardinals win this afternoon, Sylvester Johnson, a big right hander, will pitch the seventh game for St. Louis. Johnson was told by Manager Street to be in readiness to handle the assignment.

The St. Louis players seemed as confident as ever at their downtown hotel this morning. They arrived here yesterday afternoon from St. Louis. Most of them attended a theatrical performance last night. When their train pulled into Philadelphia a crowd of about 500 fans had assembled at the station. One ardent Philadelphia rooter shouted at them:

"Hey, you fellows, why don't you win a ball game?"

Frankie Frisch, the club's famous second baseman, retorted:

"What do you think we came to Philadelphia for?"

The A's arrived in town last evening and were greeted by a noisy throng of 2,000 men, women and children.

They were wildly cheered and a 30-piece band lent melody to the occasion. Jimmy Fox, who hit the home run that won Monday's game, was the hero of the hour.

"I knew if I kept on swinging I'd finally connect with that ball," Fox told his friends. "It was about time I hit one anyway."

Most of the A's went to their homes and rested for the battle today. They confidently believe that by 4 o'clock this afternoon they will have won the 1930 baseball championship.

MACK SILENT

Manager Mack, the "old fox" of the dugouts, declined to reveal whom he would select to pitch this afternoon's game, saying, "I really haven't made up my mind."

Close friends of Mack say, however, that he will send George Earnshaw, his great right hander, back in again today even though he pitched seven innings on Monday. "Lefty" Grove, who hurled the last two innings, has had more rest and would seem to be a more logical choice, but Mack knows best.

Burleigh Grimes, the lion hearted St. Louis spitballer, who has lost two hard luck games after giving remarkable pitching exhibitions, was being consoled and congratulated on all sides today.

DON'T BE A SLAVE TO LAXATIVES

Mrs. E. Cobbard, 301 W. 5th St., Newport, Ky., says: "My husband and I were actually slaves to laxatives, continually dosing ourselves with something to relieve constipation. Just couldn't stop. It got to be a habit. We even gave our children laxatives in candy form. Little did we realize that we were only aggravating and not reaching the cause of the constipation. Headaches, biliousness, indigestion and constipation still continued."

Our druggist recommended Carter's Little Liver Pills. He said these little vegetable pills would tone up the liver, stir up the bile, which, acting as an antiseptic, keeps the food from rotting, and poisoning the blood. They are not habit forming and thoroughly cleanse the upper and lower bowel. Laxatives fail to do this. Carter's Little Liver Pills are sold at all Druggists in the red paper package.

MALONEY TOO FAST FOR ALP

Carnera Fails To Register Single Knockdown Against Boston Trial Horse.

BOSTON, Oct. 8.—Primo Carnera, the ambling Alp, is not a knockout menace when he is confronted with a nimble footed and resolutely courageous foe who possesses some boxing ability.

This is the impression some 15,000 hub boxing fans had today after watching Primo meet his first American defeat last night at the hands of Jimmy Maloney of Boston.

Carnera with a 65-pound weight advantage and almost eight inches taller than Jimmy could not even knock down Maloney who has suffered at the hands of Jack Sharkey, George Godfrey, Leo Gates and Tom Heeney.

For all of Carnera's 23 American victories, 22 by knockouts, Primo found that Maloney wasn't the last bit awed when the opening gong sounded. Jimmy was unusually belligerent. He stood up against the massive Italian as though he felt sure of winning.

In fact, after getting over the first round, Jimmy seemed to get additional confidence and fought back savagely. He maneuvered himself inside of Carnera's leads with greater frequency, feinted the big fellow beautifully and made Primo miss badly.

The defeat was disappointing to Carnera's retinue, as Bill Duffy, et al, last evening closed with the Garden to have Primo meet Stribling in Miami. Whether Primo's failure to bring down his Boston rival will cause any change in these plans is unknown.

The fight was not the financial success anticipated. Receipts were $70,000. Canera's slice was $40,000 and Maloney's cut $15,000.

Carnera was a 5 to 2 favorite. Carnera proved that he could take it on the chin in his mixup just as he did against George Godfrey in Philadelphia, when he was awarded the decision on a foul.

HACK IS NAMED MOST VALUABLE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Hack Wilson, Chicago Cub outfielder, is the most valuable ballplayer in the National League.

The Bruin slugger was given that honor by a vote of a committee of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, attending the world series here.

Wilson just nosed out Frankie Frisch of the St. Louis Red Wings, by receiving 70 points out of a possible 80 to the Fordham Flash's 64.

Bill Terry, of the New York Giants, followed Frisch with 58 markers.

LIVESTOCK

Closing livestock market report furnished by the Pickaway County Farm Bureau for Wednesday, Oct. 8.

CHICAGO—Hog receipts 16,000; market 15c higher; mediums 10.25 to 10.50.

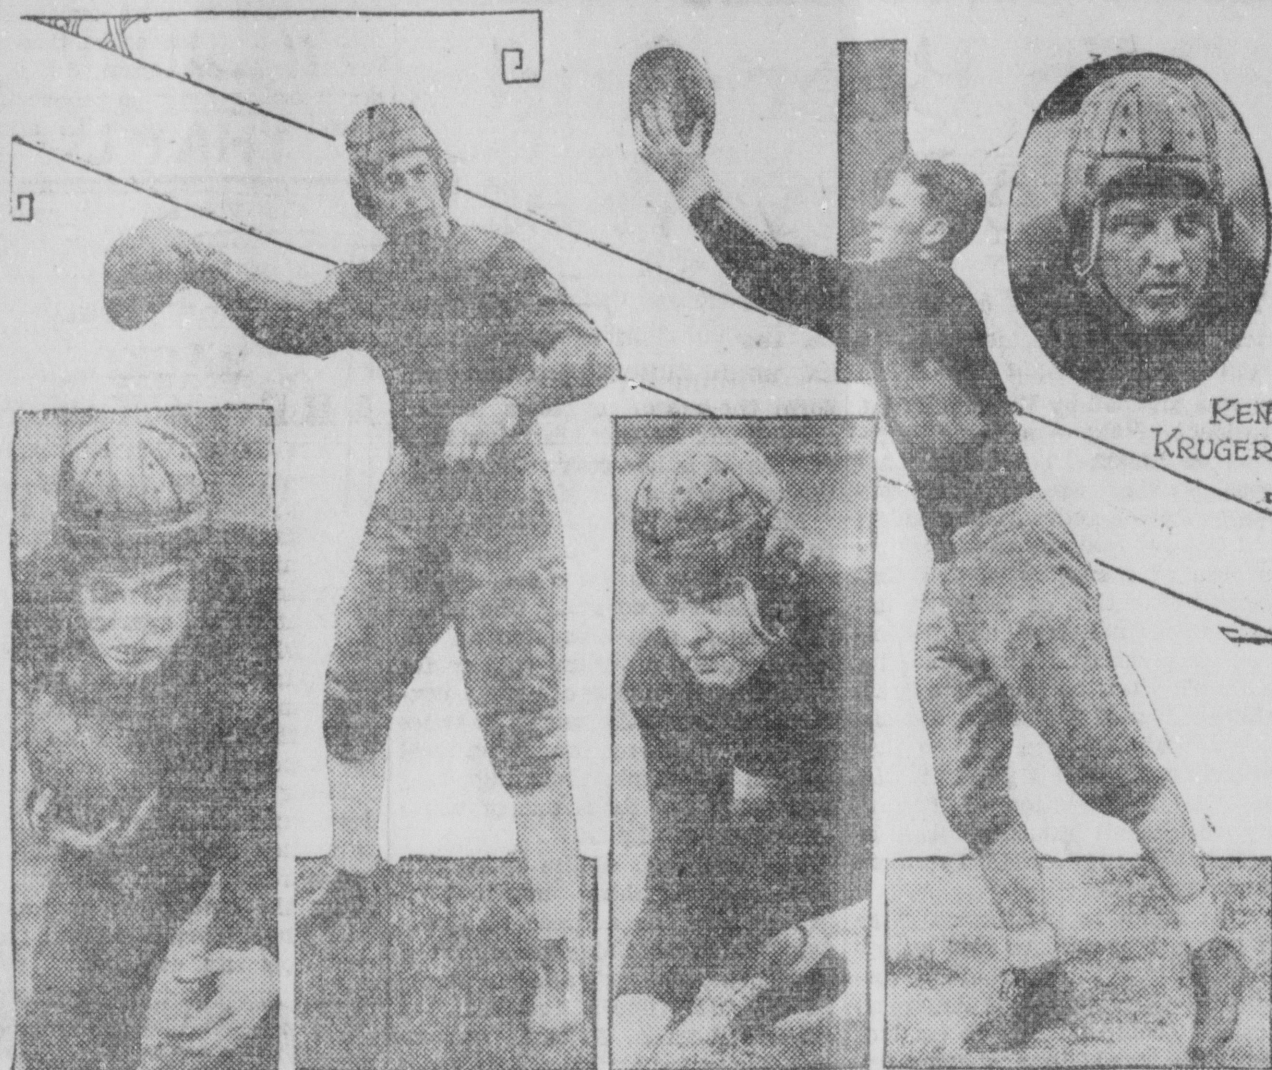

PITTSBURGH—Hog receipts 3,000; market 5c lower; mediums 10.75 to 10.80; lights 10.25; pigs 10.00; sows 8.75; calves 14.00; lambs 8.50 to 9.00; lights 9.25.

CINCINNATI—Hog receipts 2,900; market active-steady; mediums 10.60.

Purchasing Power

The phrase the "purchasing power of money" and the "general level of prices" are reciprocal. To say that the purchasing power of money is high or low is the same thing as to say that the general level of prices is low or high. If the price level is doubled, the purchasing power of money will be halved, and vice versa.

Middle West to Meet in Football Classic

PAUL KNUDSON — ERNIE LUSBY — STANLEY HAMBERG — BERNARD WIEN. M.M. A thrilling game is anticipated when University of Wisconsin meets Chicago University at Madison, on October 11. Above are pictured some of the stars who will figure in this classic football game. Paul Knudson, full back, Chicago University; Ernie Lusby, half back, University of Wisconsin; Stanley Hamberg, guard, University of Chicago; Bernard Wien, University of Chicago, right end, and Ken Kruger, University of Wisconsin, center.

QUINN SORE AT JOE MCCARTHY

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Joe McCarthy may or may not sign to manage the New York Yankees. It's all the same to Bob Quinn, owner of the Red Sox, who in a statement declared that the Boston club was no longer interested in what McCarthy did.

Quinn was angry because, he said: "The Boston club is being given the run round by a man who can't make up his mind." With McCarthy out of the picture Muddy Ruel loomed today as the next Red Sox manager. Muddy had the job all tied up last year, but Clark Griffith, of the Senators, wouldn't let him go.

This winter Ruel may make the proper arrangements and be able to take charge of the Red Sox at any time Bob Quinn wishes.

TRUCK COMPANY MAY PASS HERE

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 8.—G. E. Davis and R. H. Wells, both of Gallipolis, doing business as the Gallipolis Motor Freight, today applied to the state utilities commission for permission to operate a three-ton truck over a route from Gallipolis to Columbus, by way of Thurman, Oak Hill, Jackson, Chillicothe and Circleville.

The commission will conduct a hearing on the application Oct. 31, starting at 10 a.m.

DAVEY WILL AID BULKLEY FIGHT

LORAIN, O., Oct. 8.—The senatorial campaign of Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland, received a decided boost, in the opinion of political experts today, with the entrance of Congressman Martin L. Davey, into the fight as an active participant.

Davey will carry the colors of the Democratic ticket throughout the entire state but will concentrate especially on Lorain, Summit, Medina and Portage counties—the counties that sent him to Congress four times.

Announcement of Davey's decision to participate actively in the current campaign came as Bulkley appeared here last night at an enthusiastic Democratic rally with George White, Marietta gubernatorial nominee; William B. Pickrel, Dayton, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, and Dow Harter of Akron, candidate for Congress.

Attempts of the national administration to "insure prosperity by presidential proclamation," were scored by Bulkley at the rally. He declared that the tariff laws have done as much to bring about the stock market collapse and subsequent business and industrial depression as anything else.

Harter, in a brief address at the rally, demanded repeal of the 18th amendment. He also attacked the national administration for its methods of doctoring business and industrial depression and unemployment.
